The past two years—2020 and continuing into 2022— the world has existed in a state of Pandemic—with shelter-at-home, lockdowns, and other governmental orders to slow the spread of COVID-19.

You have lived through a unique, historical experience. Reflect upon your experience(s) and write your essay from one of these viewpoints (and create a title/headline for your essay):

- 1. While under shelter-at-home orders, your daily activities changed dramatically. Education, home life, part-time jobs, extracurricular activities, sports, etc., had to ‘retool.’ What positive things came out of this experience? What positive things do you think will continue when the pandemic ends?
- 2. Ten years from now, how do you think you will describe this (Pandemic) experience? Will it change your life?
- 3. What is the responsibility of media outlets for providing truth in reporting? Does social media affect how we determine what is true online? Examples of misinformation include vaccines, mandates for both masks and vaccines, and other controversies. How will that impact the way history of the pandemic is recorded?
- 4. Write an ‘editorial’ for a newspaper using facts, data and other professional opinions in support of (or against) the lab-origin theory of Covid-19.
- 5. Any historical event in Alabama’s history.

ALL papers required a minimum of two sources—preferably only one of these from the Internet. Citation of sources should follow the document itself.

I give my permission to publish excerpts of my essay and photograph on the HHS Web site and/or Facebook page, newsletter, and/or local publications. Your story about your Pandemic experience will be archived at the HHS office.
